The Power of a Woman

Our guest speaker is Lillian Clayman who is currently a professor at the State University of New York at Old Westbury where she teaches Industrial and Labor Relations. She is currently a PhD candidate in American History at Rutgers. Lillian is also one of the founders of the Women's Committee at the Long Island Federation of Labor. She began her career teaching labor studies at UConn and was active as a volunteer in union campaigns. She became active in local politics and in 1991 she was elected to the first of three terms as mayor of Hamden – the first woman and youngest person elected to that office. Since moving to Brookhaven, NY she has managed several town and state political campaigns. She has established the curriculum for union leadership classes and teaching classes in labor history and financial planning at the Long Island Federation of Labor.
